Creativity and craftsmanship unite to make quite a statement under the guise of modesty. Made completely of arorog, a slender stem flows into a large, flared woven base that has a slight parasol shape. The fine execution of the handwoven details and the hand-applied rattan hackle-bindings on the joints are put on display when in use. Finished in a natural light brown stain to accentuate its natural textures. Topped with an off-white linen drum shade with white cotton lining. Finish may vary. ☒
